

Claims

“The embodiment of the invention “Supertech Pillow” in which an exclusive property or privilege is claimed are defined as follows:”

- 1) An object constructed or extruded comprising of two unequal tubular forms of spongy material adjoining diagonally forming the width.
- 2) An object defined in claim 1 mentioning two unequal tubular form to be suitable mean average figures (Diameters) to provide support for structurally smaller or larger built individual's Cervical Contour.
- 3) The hollow portions of tubular forms as defined in Claim 1 and 2 used to accommodate therapeautical or any other comforting articles.